Results of Operations

For the six months ended June 30, 2026, the net asset value of the Fund for pricing purposes was $11.00 (class A) and $12.02 (class F) per unit compared to $10.89 (class A) and $11.83 (class F) per unit as at December 31, 2025.

For more detailed information on the investment returns, please see the Annual Total Return bar graph.

For the six months ended June 30, 2026, the fund had a return of 2.69% net of fees of 1.00% (annualized) while the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index had a return of 2.24%. Infrastructure and in a tie, Provincial and Municipal bonds were the top performers, returning 2.91% and 2.78% respectively. The uncertainty of trade negotiations between Canada and the US and the unresolved geopolitical conflict between US and Iran will sustain overall market volatility. Given expectations that rates are near cycle lows, the fund has shifted away from a defensive position; duration is still slightly longer vs the benchmark. The Bank of Canada has maintained rates at 2.25% so far this year and the current market expectations are that rates will continue to hold into the end of the year.

Recent Developments

The first half of 2026 has continued to be quite volatile. US military action in Venezuela at the start of the year followed up with the US-Iran conflict, yet to be resolved, were significant drivers of market volatility. US economic metrics are generally strong as a resilient US consumer has propelled retail sales growth even in the face of a mid-year surge in inflation. The Fed has held the funds rate at 3.75% throughout 2026 choosing growth stability over preemptive tightening to combat the sharp rise in inflation. Canadian economic activity during the first half of 2026 has continued to be subdued due to a stagnant housing market and uncertainty around trade negotiations between Canada and US that are expected to be difficult and prolonged. Given the uncertainty, the Bank of Canada's policy rate has remained unchanged throughout 2026, holding at 2.25%. Corporate bonds continue to perform well in this environment as they provide an additional yield over lower yielding Government bonds.

(2) Total increase (decrease) from operations consists of interest revenue, realized and unrealized gains (losses), less expenses, and is calculated based on the weighted average number of units outstanding during the period. The schedule is not intended to total to the ending net assets as calculations are based on the weighted average number of units outstanding during the period.

(3) Distributions to unitholders are based on the number of units outstanding on the record date for each distribution and were paid in cash.

(1) This information is provided as at June 30 of the period and December 31 of the year shown.

(2) Management expense ratio is the ratio of all fees and expenses, including harmonized sales taxes but excluding transaction fees charged to the Fund to the average net assets.

(3) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio adviser manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.

(4) Net Asset Value per unit is the difference between the aggregate value of the assets of the Fund and the aggregate value of the liabilities and including the valuation of securities at closing prices divided by the number of units then outstanding.
